Panel 1

A young girl stands at the edge of an ordinary meadow at dusk. In front of her: a forest glowing faintly between the trees. The air inside shimmers with soft light. Fireflies hover in geometric patterns.

Panel 2

Inside, the trees are impossibly tall, their bark veined with gold light. Mushrooms glow blue at their roots. A fox made of leaves watches her. A faint whisper curls through the air: her name.

Panel 3

The forest responds to her emotions. When she feels afraid, shadows stretch. When she breathes deeply, flowers bloom in her footprints. Floating lantern-seeds drift down from above. A massive ancient tree bends slightly toward her, as if bowing.

Panel 4

At the heart of the forest: a glowing pool reflecting not her face—but a braver, older version of herself crowned in starlight. She touches the water. The glow travels into her hands.
